

10 Year Summary
1993	1994	1995	1996	1997	1998	1999	2000	2001	2002
32,743	31,677	30,142	28,870	29,468	32,301	33,841	31,819	29,925	28,620

	Q1	Q2	Q3	Q4	Average
2002	27,529	28,663	28,107	29,041	28,338
2003	27,257	26,169			26,710

While the non-sentenced ADP was doubling in size (between 1985 and the present), the sentenced ADP has remained virtually unchanged. The 2nd Quarter 2003 sentenced-inmate ADP was 26,169, compared to 25,674 in 1985. As recently as 1998, the sentenced ADP was almost 9,000 inmates higher than it is today. Does this mean that effective alternatives to incarceration are being used, or that inmates are being released from their sentences due to lack of jail space? The latter explanation is more consistent with our Jail Profile Survey data. In the 2nd Quarter of 2003, over 8,000 inmates per month were released early from their sentences due solely to lack of jail space.